

ALLEN SHOWS WAY TO SETTLE STRIKES

Governor of Kansas Urges Industrial Relations Court in Brooklyn Speech.

INTS TO MILK CASE

People of This City Should Be Ashamed of Themselves.

V. Henry J. Allen, of Kansas, told Brooklyn Chamber of Commerce at noon at 32 Court street, Brooklyn, today that this city "should be ashamed of itself for not knowing how to settle the milk strike." In Kansas, he said, the people are no longer troubled by prolonged strike disturbances, because of the Industrial Relations Court, which has been created by the state legislature. He said that the court has been successful in settling the milk strike, and that the people of Kansas are now able to get their milk at a reasonable price.

justice—to capital, labor and the public—that's progress," he said. "Courts which regulate the lives of husband, wife and child, should be empowered to regulate the industries which affect the family and the nation."

The trouble with organized labor is its "bad leaders," Gov. Allen said, stating that Kansas is the only State which has not been affected by the packing strike, because its industrial relations court has forbidden picketing.

"Samuel Gompers recently declared that the fight of the laboring man is to keep what he won during the war," said Gov. Allen. "That, like other statements, is based on the borrowed notion that artificial demand for labor might be created by teaching labor to slack on the job. A good platform to build on today is an honest day's work."

"I believe in collective bargaining. I believe that contracts are not scraps of paper. Some people would like to take advantage of the present dull times to drive wages down. The industrial court is not seeking to enter all fields; it is merely an emergency board. We forbid capital to close down plants pending wage adjustments, and we forbid the labor to strike and tie up plants which produce essentials."

"Gompers has been roaring at the President because the President advocates an industrial tribunal. Gompers never stood for a program that helped the working man unless that program was introduced by a workingman. Our quarrel is not against the organization of labor; it is against its bad leaders."

STILLMAN AGENTS CALLED BRIBERS

have attempted to bribe witnesses. Is that the situation?"

"We certainly will never submit to the production of unnamed persons before the commission. We are willing to have a commissioner named, but we must have the names of these mysterious persons who are said to be acting as the plaintiff's agents."

Rising slowly, his face flushed, Mr. Brennan turned to Mr. Horsey and said: "We can name two persons now and there are others. We name now two men as agents of the plaintiff. They are J. Albert La Fontaine and Francois Lajoie. You will admit Mr. Horsey, that these men were the plaintiff's agents?"

"Oh, you can put me on the stand in Canada and swear me as a witness," Mr. Horsey replied.

"Yes, we can do that," Mr. Brennan added.

Justice Morehouse said he granted the application for the commission. He asked if the lawyers could suggest any Canadian attorney who might be named commissioner. Neither side could make a suggestion.

"I'll do it," the Justice said. "I'll inquire up there and appoint a man. I have ways of finding the proper person to serve. So, now you will all go to Canada."

"Yes," said Mr. Brennan, "the sleight of hand is fine in Montreal."

"You can have my share of it," the Justice replied. "I'd rather go to Florida."

J. Albert La Fontaine is a resident of Grande Anse, where the Stillman lodge was situated, and figured in the testimony at the earlier hearings in the suit. Francois Lajoie is a lawyer of Three Rivers, Quebec, and has been referred to in the testimony as Mr. Stillman's attorney in Canada. The famous "ladder and keyhole witnesses" were rounded up by Mr. Lajoie for the banker's lawyers, Nicol, Anable, Fuller & Sullivan. Their sworn statements regarding alleged swindlings in the North Woods has been considered the most damaging evidence introduced against Mrs. Stillman.

The affidavit submitted by Mr. Brennan was dated December 8 and asked that an "open commission" be appointed. Justice Morehouse emphasized this point because all the proceedings thus far in the suit have been conducted behind closed doors. Now Mrs. Stillman asks they be in the open and her husband, through his attorneys, agrees to the proposal.

The affidavits cited the names of the thirty-three witnesses to be called and contained a digest of the counter allegations of the witnesses to be called testified for Mr. Stillman at the first and second hearings in the suit, before he became engaged in Mrs. Stillman's defense, and that he wished an opportunity to cross-examine them. The application was made at this time, the lawyer explained, because some of the witnesses would have to travel over frozen grounds, in some instances for more than 200 miles, and that if now appointed the commission could facilitate the serving of subpoenas.

The affidavit summarized the testimony to be given by some of these witnesses as follows:

"Your deponent (Mr. Brennan) is unable to state at this time the names and addresses of the witnesses by whom the defendant expects to disprove or negative the allegations set forth in the complaint, except by one Joseph Blackburn, residing at Rap River, Quebec, that on or about July of 1920 J. Albert La Fontaine came over and saw him and offered him money and a good position and to take him to New York, where he would have a good time, if he would falsely say that he, Blackburn, saw Mrs. Stillman and Fred Beauvais at the little camp at Lake Dawson for ten days and saw intimate and improper relations between them."

"Raoul Rivord, residing at Rap River, was present and saw La Fontaine giving drink to Blackburn and heard him try to induce Blackburn to swear that he, Blackburn, saw improper relations between Mrs. Stillman and Fred Beauvais at the little camp at Lake Dawson."

"George Giguere, residing at Grande Anse, Quebec, will testify that in June or July, 1920, La Fontaine endeavored to get him to falsely swear he saw that he received a very large sum of money, far in excess of his traveling expenses and loss of wages and all expenses for testifying, and that the same was promised and paid him before going to New York City to testify."

"Armand Page of LaTouche, that agents of James A. Stillman offered him a considerable sum of money if he would falsely testify that he saw improper relations between the defendant, Mrs. James A. Stillman, and Fred K. Beauvais at LaTouche, and that he saw reading at Grande Anse, will testify that they made a pair of moccasins from weasel skins for little Guy Stillman, tanned the same and made the same into moccasins and that there was no writing of any kind in the moccasins."

These moccasins figured in the testimony last spring. Sworn statements were introduced to show they were a gift to baby Guy from Beauvais, and the witnesses said they saw inscriptions on the inside of the moccasins.

Continuing the affidavit said: "Ferdinand Page of LaTouche (one of the so-called 'ladder and keyhole' witnesses), for further cross-examination and for the particular purpose of being examined as to payments made to him and promises made by agents of James A. Stillman of considerable sum of money, and which induced his testimony in this action in December, 1920," and that the agents of James A. Stillman promised him a considerable sum of money in excess of all his expenses and loss of time for such testimony."

"Joseph Page of LaTouche (son of Ferdinand), for further cross-examination as to the actual amount of money received by him from the agents of James A. Stillman before testifying in this case in December, 1920, and that we will attempt and expect to prove by him that he received a very large sum of money, far in excess of his traveling expenses and loss of wages and all expenses for testifying, and that the same was promised and paid him before going to New York City to testify."

"Armand Page of LaTouche, that agents of James A. Stillman offered him a considerable sum of money if he would falsely testify that he saw improper relations between the defendant, Mrs. James A. Stillman, and Fred K. Beauvais at LaTouche, and that he saw Mrs. Stillman and Beauvais in bed together. Joseph La Marche, LaTouche, that agents of James A. Stillman endeavored to induce him to falsely swear he saw Mrs. Stillman and Beauvais sleeping together in the Hotel Windsor at LaTouche, and promised if he would so testify money in addition to his witness fees and necessary expenses."

"Mrs. Arthur Desaulniers of Grande Piles said that Mrs. James A. Stillman and Fred K. Beauvais stayed at the house occupied by her for some time in the years 1916 and 1917; that their conduct was always exemplary and that agents of James A. Stillman approached her and endeavored to get her to falsely testify she saw Mrs. Stillman and Beauvais in bed together at Grande Anse."

"Two other persons who, according to Mr. Brennan's affidavit, will be called to substantiate the allegations of attempted bribery will be Paul Gupers and Medie Paquin, both of LaTouche. Other witnesses will deny there was a scaffold in front of the Stillman lodge in June, 1919, when the so-called 'ladder and keyhole' witnesses swore they peeped through a slit in a window curtain and saw Beauvais in Mrs. Stillman's bedroom with Charles Blackburn, a photographer of Montreal, will be asked to prove photographs of the buildings at Grande Anse which figure in the suit."

TWO MILLION SAVED BY U. S. PRINTING OFFICE

50,000,000 Pounds of Paper Used in Last Fiscal Year.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—If the paper used by the Government Printing Office during the year was laid flat a thickness of one sheet it would cover approximately thirty-five square miles, and if made into octavo books, piled one on the other they would reach 500 miles into the air. Public Printer Carter estimates in his annual report filed with Congress.

For printing and binding, 50,000,000 pounds of paper were used during the fiscal year ended last June 30. Not all of the paper was needed for printing speeches of Senators and Representatives in the Congressional Record, however, as the office gets out various Government publications, Congressional documents, stationery and the like.

During the last fiscal year total expenditures of the printing office amounted to $11,111,111 compared with approximately $13,000,000 the previous year.

SIX CHINESE ARRESTED. Windsor, Ont., Dec. 10.—A 2,000 mile automobile trip from Vancouver, made by six Chinese in an effort to find a way into the United States, ended in the arrest of the six and their American convoy, Geo. Paquette of Monroe, Mich., to-day. Mounted police, who made the arrests, said Paquette admitted he was trying to smuggle the sextet across the border.
